

Information About the Authors

Tomasz Stępniewski – Doctor Habilitatus (Polish Academy of Sciences, Warsaw, Poland) – Associate Professor at the Institute of Political Science and Public Administration, Faculty of Social Sciences, The John Paul II Catholic University of Lublin and Deputy Director at the Institute of Central Europe in Lublin, Poland.

Iryna Gerlach (Yeleyko) – Candidate of Economical Sciences (PhD), Associate Professor of the Department of International Economic Relations, Faculty of International Relations, Ivan Franko National University of Lviv, Ukraine. Research programs and scholarships: Private Higher School of Business and Administration (Warsaw, Poland); Jagiellonian University, Lane Kirkland Scholarship Program (Krakow, Poland); Jagiellonian University, Queen Jadviga grant (Krakow, Poland); The George Washington University, The William and Helen Petrach Endowment for Ukrainian Exchanges and Programs (Washington DC, USA); University of the Algarve, Erasmus Mundus Mobility Programme (Faro, Portugal); University of Cadiz, Erasmus + Staff Mobility (Cadiz, Spain). Expert in International labour migration of Ukrainians, Ukrainian immigrants in the European labour market, Migration Policy of the EU, EU-Ukraine relations, Cross-cultural Management, Human Resources Management. The author of more than 50 scientific publications.

Olha Ryndzak – Doctor of Economic Sciences, Senior Researcher of the Department of Problems of Social and Humanitarian Development of the Regions, State Institution “Institute of Regional Research named after M.I. Dolishnyi of the National Academy of Sciences of Ukraine”, Lviv, Ukraine. Winner of the reward of the regional state administration and the regional council for employees of scientific and higher education institutions in the Lviv region (2020). Participant of many research projects in Ukraine and abroad. The latest of them are: “Migration activity of the population of the Carpathian region” (2019–2021, National Academy of Sciences of Ukraine); “Quality of life of the population of the Carpathian region of Ukraine: ecological and social determinants”(2021); “Mechanisms of proactive policy for reducing social vulnerability of the population (based on the Carpathian region of Ukraine)” (2021 – until now). Expert in migration policy, international migration, internally displacement, integration of migrants, migration potential, labour motivation, quality of life, social vulnerability. The author of 140 scientific publications.

Teresa Astramowicz-Leyk – Political Scientist, Professor at the University of Warmia and Mazury in Olsztyn. Head of the Political Systems and Doctrines Research Unit at the Institute of Political Science of the University of Warmia and Mazury in Olsztyn. Scientific interests: local government, human rights and Polish political thought. She is the author of four monographs and 80 scientific articles, the editor of 11 collective publications. Executive Manager of the Polish-Ukrainian grant of the Ministry of Science and Higher Education (2018/2019) on the Polish side; participant of the Visegrad grant (2019).

Yaryna Turchyn – Professor at the Department of Political Science and International Relations of the Lviv Polytechnic National University, Head of the Institute of Humanities and Social Sciences, has a doctorate in political science. Field of research: current issues of Ukraine’s foreign policy and the Eastern policy of the European Union. She is the author of numerous scientific papers on foreign policy. The leader and chief executor of international grants and academic exchanges, including Erasmus +. She is the head of the grant of the Jean Monnet program module «EU Eastern Partnership Initiative: Opportunities for Ukraine» (2020–2023). Ivan Vuhovskiy Prize for research on “The role of the Republic of Poland in the implementation of the Eastern Partnership initiative: results, challenges and prospects” (Poland, Warsaw University) (2018–2019). Head of the international grant with the support of the Visegrad Fund (2019), main executor of the Grant of the President of Ukraine (2019), main executor of the joint Ukrainian-Polish scientific project under the patronage of the Ministry of Education and Science of Ukraine (2018–2019). She is also member of the educational and methodical commission of the Ministry of Education and Science of Ukraine on the development of standards of higher education in the specialty «International Relations, Public Communications and Regional Studies». Expert on accreditation of educational programs of the National Agency for Quality Assurance in Higher Education of Ukraine in the specialty «International Relations, Public Communications and Regional Studies». Member of the Ukrainian Association of Teachers and Researchers of European Integration. Head of the Scientific and Analytical Center for Political Studies «Vektor» and the Office of Public Diplomacy.

Olga Ivasechko – Associate Professor of the Department of Political Science and International Relations at the Lviv Polytechnic National University in 2012 she defended her dissertation in the field of political science. She is the author of more than 136 publications in the field of international relations, 6 articles of which belong to the scientific database Scopus and Web of Science (WoS), co-author of 5 scientific textbooks, 3 dictionaries, co-author of 5 monographs, more than 15 scientific publications. Last year, as co-author, she published The OSCE institutional and operational possibilities in the modern conflict resolution (by example of the activity of the OSCE Special Monitoring Mission to Ukraine). Field of research: history of political doctrines, European studies, problems of regional policy and integration, social aspects of politics, energy security, migration policy. She is a member of the Jean Monnet program module grant project «EU Eastern Partnership Initiative: Opportunities for Ukraine». Ivan Vuhovskyi Prize for research on “Problems of adaptation of Ukrainian labor migrants in Poland: challenges and ways to solve them” (Poland, Warsaw University) (2020–2021).

Małgorzata Pacek – Doctor of Humanities, lecturer at the Centre for Europe, the University of Warsaw; political scientist specialising in international relations, and in particular European studies. Research interests: the foreign policy of the European Union, the migration policy of the European Union and the Member States, the integration of migrants in host countries, the participation of migrants in European labour markets, EU policy towards refugees, and Polish migration policy. The author of numerous scientific publications in these fields. Deputy editor-in-chief of the quarterly “Studia Europejskie – Studies in European Affairs”.

Janusz Balicki – Professor at the Cardinal Stefan Wyszyński University in Warsaw; Institute of Political Sciences and Administration; head of the Inter-institutes Migration Research Unit and the Interdisciplinary Migration Research Network; member of the Committee for Labor Sciences and Social Policy at the Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences of the Polish Academy of Sciences. Research areas: social demography; population policy; EU immigration and asylum policy; ethics.

Dominik Wach – Political Scientist, a PhD student at the University of Warsaw, an affiliate at the Centre of Migration Research, and an assistant researcher at the SGH Warsaw School of Economics. His research is focused on migration, integration, and Middle Eastern affairs. He was professionally involved in the integration of refugees between 2008 and 2022. A former human rights observer in the West Bank (oPt) and humanitarian worker in Jordan. He was working on the projects “IMINTEG – in search for models of relations between immigration and integration policies” between 2016 and 2019 and “Foreigners – Varsovians. Diagnosis and Recommendations of Integration Activities” in 2021. He is currently involved in the projects: “ARICA – A Multi-directional Analysis of Refugee/IDP Camp Areas based on HR/VHR Satellite Data” and “Investing in ‘Welcoming Spaces’ in Europe: Revitalizing Shrinking Areas by Hosting non-EU Migrants”.

Marta Pachocka – Assistant Professor in the Department of Political Studies, the Institute of International Studies of the Collegium of Socio-Economics of the SGH Warsaw School of Economics and Head of the Migration Policies Research Unit at the Centre of Migration Research (CMR) of the University of Warsaw. She received her PhD in economics in 2013, but her academic profile is truly interdisciplinary; one which includes both political science and migration studies. She has considerable experience as both a team leader and member in implementing cross-sector and multi-stakeholder projects co-funded by the National Science Centre, the National Bank of Poland, the Capital City of Warsaw, various ministries, EU Programmes (Horizon 2020, Lifelong Learning Programme, Erasmus+, Creative Europe), and others. As of 2022, she is a vice-coordinator of an SGH team in the project Welcoming Spaces – “Investing in ‘Welcoming Spaces’ in Europe: Revitalizing Shrinking Areas by Hosting non-EU Migrants” (2020–2024) of the Horizon 2020 Framework Programme (consortium leader: Utrecht University). She is on the board of PECSA and the Research Committee RC46 – Migration and Citizenship of the International Political Science Association (IPSA). She supports the European Commission Representation in Poland as an EU expert member of the Team Europe network. She is also a member of the International Steering Committee of the Metropolis Project, focused on international migration and migration policies.

Artur Gruszczak – Professor of Social Sciences, Chair of National Security at the Jagiellonian University in Krakow, Poland, and a lecturer at the Centre International de Formation Européenne in Nice. His research focuses on internal security, migration, and border management in the European Union. His scholarship includes 11 academic books (four as co-author), an editorship of 10 collected volumes (four as co-editor), 100 chapters, and 60 articles.

Julija Brsakoska-Bazerkoska – PhD, an Associate Professor at Ss. Cyril and Methodius University, Law Faculty in Skopje, Macedonia, teaches

International Relations, Common Foreign and Security Policy of the EU and Multilateral diplomacy. She has finished her PhD studies magna cum laude at Cologne University, Law Faculty in Germany. She was engaged as a researcher under the Curriculum Research Fellowship program at the Central European University in Budapest, Hungary. During the summer of 2019 she was a visiting fellow at the Lauterpacht Centre for International Law at the University of Cambridge, UK. Moreover, she was part of several EU funded projects within the Albanian Ministry of European Integration, the Skopje's office of the Italian Ministry for Environment, Land and Sea, as well as on several projects within the domestic NGO sector.

Artur Niedźwiecki – Doctor in Political Science at the University of Łódź and an attorney-at-law in the law office (ŁD-2077). Being a practicing manager, he also serves as an academic lecturer on a number of postgraduate managerial studies for business professionals. His research interests relate in particular to the legal, political, and economic aspects of international relations. He is the author of more than 30 scientific publications, including the monograph “Polish Foreign Policy towards European Integration after 2004”.