

About the Authors (in alphabetical order)

Michał Apollo – Ph.D., is an Assistant Professor (Adjunct) at the Institute of Earth Sciences, at the University of Silesia in Katowice, Poland, and a fellow of Yale University’s Global Justice Program in New Haven, USA. He received his MSc. and Ph.D. in Earth science in the field of geography, and a PGCert in Global Development. Michał’s unique background allows him to integrate knowledge from the perspectives of various points of view into his research and consultancy work. He is an author and/or co-author of over 50 journal articles and three monographs: Mountaineering Tourism: A Critical Perspective (2021, Routledge, with Y. Wengel), Mountaineering Adventure Tourism and Local Communities: Social, Environmental and Economic Interactions (2022, Edward Elgar, with V. Andreychouk), and Environmental Impacts of Mountaineering: A Conceptual Framework (2021, Springer), and three edited books: Poverty and Development: Problems and Prospects (2022, Channel View Publications, with P. Moolio), Nature-Based Tourism in Asia’s Mountainous Protected Areas: A Trans-Regional Review of Peaks and Parks (2021, Springer, with T. Jones, H. Bui) and Poland and Ukraine: Problems and Prospects (2019, Wyd. Naukowe UP, z M. Krupska-Klimczak).

Liliia Balash – Ph.D., is an Associate Professor at the Department of Law and Management in the Field of Civil Protection at Lviv State University of Life Safety, Ukraine. Liliia is the author of more than 100 scientific works, and her sphere of scientific interests is the management system of organisations, namely operational management, administrative management, and innovation management.

Małgorzata Buśko – Ph.D., is an Associate Professor at the Faculty of Geo-Data Science, Geodesy, and Environmental Engineering, Department of Integrated Geodesy and Cartography at the AGH University of Science and Technology, Poland. She holds a Ph.D. in geodesy and cartography. Her main area of interest is land-use structure and cadaster. Her special research interests are real estate cadastre as the basic state database of real estate information and the structure of land use. She is the author of dozens of scientific articles in this field. In recent years, she has been working intensively with Ukrainian scientists on the construction and implementation of the real estate cadastre in Ukraine, building on Polish experience in this area.

Agnieszka K. Cianciara – Ph.D., is an Associate Professor at the Institute of Political Studies of the Polish Academy of Sciences in Warsaw and Head of Department of International Organizations and Global Security Studies. Her research focuses on internal and external differentiated (dis) integration in Europe, EU foreign policy, and European policies of Poland and France. Her latest book, The Politics of the European Neighbourhood Policy, was published by Routledge in 2020. Her research has also been published in internationally renowned journals, such as the Journal of European Integration, the Journal of Contemporary European Studies, and Turkish Studies.

Kateryna Demchuk – holds an MA in International Relations, Regional Studies, and Social Communication, and is a graduate of the Master's Program Baltic-Black Sea Regional Studies at the Faculty of International Relations of the Ivan Franko National University of Lviv, Ukraine. She is the author of a Master's thesis on the Transformation of Polish-Ukrainian Relations after the Full-Scale Invasion by the Russian Federation. Her interests and skills derive from a study path which includes the modern history of international relations, processes of bilateral relations between countries and organisations, the analysis of changes in bilateral relations, and a study of the impact of Russia's full-scale war against Ukraine on relations with other states.

Iuliia Dobroskok – Ph.D., is the Head of International Relations Office at Simon Kuznets Kharkiv National University of Economics, and is responsible for the internationalisation of the University. Her research interests include studying in international economic relations, and digital transformations of the economy. She is the Coordinator of Jean Monnet Erasmus+ projects: “Digital Trade Transformation: EU experience for UA”, and “EU Study Days” – a project supported by the EU Delegation to Ukraine and “Double Degree Program “MBA: Organisational Transformations and Sustainable Development”, and “MBA: Organisational Transformations with Cybersecurity”. She is also a team member of the Erasmus+ AFID project: Providing Academic Freedom and Inclusion Through Digitalisation”, responsible for dissemination strategy.

Yuriy Dubnevych – Ph.D., is an Associate Professor and Vice-Rector for Academic Affairs and Curriculum at the Lviv National Environmental University located in Dubliany, Ukraine. Yuriy has worked as a deputy head in executive bodies of local self-government. Long-term practical experience in the field of management helps him to apply gained expertise in his research and consultancy activity. He is also the Guarantor of Management Scientific Programs for the Bachelor Educational Qualification Level.

Anna Jastrzębiec-Witowska – holds a Ph.D. in sociology from the Jagiellonian University in Kraków in addition to an MA in European Studies from the University of Exeter in England. Her academic interests revolve around food security and the viability of food systems in times of crises. She currently works as the director of the public library in Dąbrowa Tarnowska after obtaining her cultural management certification in 2022. In the past, she served on the Dąbrowski County Council (2014-2018), worked as a municipal officer, and consulted for the international NGO Food and Water Watch.

Agnieszka Kłos – holds a Ph.D. in economic sciences from the SGH Warsaw School of Economics, and is an Assistant Professor at the Jean Monnet Chair of the EU. Her areas of research include public finance, the EU budget, and the management of instruments financed from EU funds. She has almost 20 years of experience in the management of public funds (national and international), and is the author, co-author, and editor of numerous monographs, articles, and book chapters. In addition to being a participant and financial coordinator of many international scientific projects, she is a member of the editorial boards of a number of academic journals.

Dmytro Kobylkin – Ph.D., is an Associate Professor at the Department of Law and Management in the Field of Civil Protection, Lviv State University of Life Safety, Ukraine. Dmytro is the author of more than 85 scientific works, is a scholarship holder of the Cabinet of Ministers of Ukraine, and is also a participant of international projects and programs on academic mobility including ERASMUS+ at Kingston University, London, United Kingdom, and the Exchange of Experts program at the Academy of Fire Safety in Arnhem, The Netherlands. Dymyto's sphere of scientific interests focuses on project management in the field of safety, and infrastructure projects.

Leonid Konstantynovskiy – is a post-graduate student at Entrepreneurship and Trade Department of Simon Kuznets Kharkiv National University of Economics. His research interests include investigating the current state of Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) within companies, with the aim of analysing and evaluating its implementation, identifying its strengths and weaknesses, and formulating recommendations for improving efficiency and introducing new approaches to CSR. He is also interested in the potential impact of corporate social responsibility on the financial performance and reputation of companies in the retail sector.

Oleksandra Kovalyshyn – Ph.D., is a Professor at the Lviv National Environmental University, Ukraine. She is the author of more than 145 scientific papers, and a participant in international projects and the ERASMUS+ academic mobility program at the University of Natural Sciences in Lublin (Poland). She is a researcher in the field of property relations, along with the social and economic interests of the Ukrainian population, as well as their living conditions. Oleksandra's experience allows her to integrate knowledge from different disciplines in her research and consulting work.

Oksana Krayevska – holds a Ph.D. in Political Sciences, and is an Associate Professor of the Department of European and Regional Studies at the Faculty of International Relations of the Ivan Franko National University of Lviv (IFNUL), Ukraine. She teaches courses on International Integration and Globalisation in World Politics, Transformation of European Integration Processes, EU: Structure, Functions and Mechanism, Common Policies of the EU, Regional Studies, Ukraine in Baltic-Black Sea Region, International Project Management (in BBSR). She is the Head of the Bachelor's Program European Studies at IFNUL. She is the coordinator of the Jean Monnet Module "Common Policies of the EU: Alignment Strategies for Ukraine" (2021-2025). Her current research interests are in the field of EU integration, EU/Ukraine Relations, Poland/Ukraine Relations, and Common Policies of the EU. She is the author of more than 70 scientific publications. Her recent publications are: Do the EU and Ukraine Speak the Same Language? The Various Notions of Resilience before the Military Intervention (2023), Labour Migration from Ukraine to Poland: The Current State and Further Perspectives (2020), and Regionalism and Spillover Effects: The Case of Ukraine (2020). She has participated in a number of international projects and conferences.

Ewa Latoszek – is a Professor of Economics at the SGH Warsaw School of Economics, in addition to being Head of Jean Monnet Chair and Jean Monnet Centre of Excellence at SGH. Her areas of research include international economics, development economics, international organisations, sustainability, and European Integration. She is the author, co-author, and editor of numerous monographs and articles, and is the coordinator of several international projects, in addition to being an expert for national and international organisations (including the Polish Academy of Science, the EU, and the World Bank) and is also a member of the editorial boards of a number of internationally valued academic journals.

Vitalii Lebediuk – Ph.D., is an Associate Professor at the Department of National Security and Political Science, and the Director of the School for Political Analysis “Polis” at the National University of Ostroh Academy (Ukraine). He received his Ph.D. in 2012 and is currently studying the Doctoral (habilitation) program in Political Science at the Ivan Franko National University of Lviv (Ukraine). His research interests include democratisation, political parties and party systems, election systems, voting behaviour, and Eastern Europe. Since 2010, he has participated in academic mobility programs with several European universities. Dr. Lebediuk is a former fellow of the Lane Kirkland Research Scholarship Program at the Maria Curie-Skłodowska University (Lublin, Poland), and has served as an academic coordinator of the Erasmus+ project “European Values and Identity Studies” and was the coordinator of the program “The Comparative Study of Democratization: Transition Politics in V4 Countries and Ukraine” (V4EaP Visegrad University Studies Grant). He is also the academic supervisor of the Eastern Studies double-degree master’s programme of the National University of Ostroh Academy (Ukraine) and the Centre for East European Studies University of Warsaw (Poland). He is the Editor-In-Chief of the peer-reviewed academic journal Agora Social Sciences Journal.

Nadia Proskurnina – Ph.D., is a Doctor of Science in Economics, a Full Professor, and Head of the Department of International Economics and Management at the Simon Kuznets Kharkiv National University of Economics. Her research interests include international and global economy, management, and international and digital marketing. She has been involved as co-developer and teaching staff member of the Jean Monnet Erasmus+ project: Digital trade transformation: EU experience for UA”, and is responsible for the module “Digital marketing tools: EU experience”.

Maryna Salun – Ph.D., is a Doctor of Science in Economics, and Head of the Department of Entrepreneurship and Trade at the Simon Kuznets Kharkiv National University of Economics. Her research interests include studying the cooperation between social enterprises and other sectors, including the public sector, businesses, and universities. She has been involved in several international research projects, including the FESU AUF project “Formation à l’Entrepreneuriat social à l’Université” as developer of the Master Training Course “Social Entrepreneurship”; and the DocHub Erasmus + project “Structuring Cooperation in the Field of Doctoral Research, Transferable Skills Training and Academic Writing in Ukrainian Regions” as a developer of the Ph.D. training course “Edubusiness”.

Tetyana Shtal – Ph.D., is a Doctor of Science in Economics, a Full Professor, and Head of the Faculty of International Economy and Entrepreneurship at the Simon Kuznets Kharkiv National University of Economics. Her research interests include studying in international marketing, digital marketing, and digital transformations of the economy. She is Chief Editor of the scientific journals ‘Economics of Development’ and ‘Development Management’, and is also a co-developer and member of the teaching staff as part of Jean Monnet Erasmus+ project: Digital trade transformation: EU experience for UA”, and responsible for the training course “Digital Economy Around Us”.

Paweł Stawarz – Ph.D., is an Assistant Professor at the Institute of Security and Defense of the Faculty of Security, Logistics and Management of the Military University of Technology. He is the Editor-in-Chief of the scientific journal Studia Wschodnioeuropejskie, and a member of the Polish Association for European Studies. His research interests include the eastern policy of the European Union, post-Soviet countries with a particular emphasis on the South Caucasus including international relations and security in that part of the world, EU law and institutions, and the methodology of European studies. The author of dozens of scientific publications, including Armenia and Azerbaijan in the ENP – Missed Opportunities?, and “Online Journal Modelling the New Europe”, Interdisciplinary Studies 2020, no. 32; “Changing Power Dynamics and New Geopolitical Reality in the South Caucasus”, Studia Wschodnioeuropejskie 2022, no. 16.

Tomasz Stępniewski – Ph.D. (Polish Academy of Sciences, Warsaw, Poland); Deputy Director at the Institute of Central Europe in Lublin (www.ies.lublin.pl); and Associate Professor at the Institute of Political Science and Public Administration, Faculty of Social Sciences, The John Paul II Catholic University of Lublin. His most recent publications include: T. Stepniewski and G. Soroka (eds.), Ukraine after Maidan. Revisiting Domestic and Regional Security, Ibidem-Verlag, Columbia University Press (ibidem-Verlag's book series "Soviet and Post-Soviet Politics and Society" – SPSS edited by Andreas Umland), vol. 188, Stuttgart 2018.

Zdzisław Śliwa – Col (ret) Ph.D. hab., is the Dean of the Baltic Defense College in Tartu, Estonia, and a visiting professor of the Latvian National Defence University in Riga. He completed his education at the Polish National Defense University in Warsaw, the US Army Command and General Staff College, Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, USA and also in the Center of Strategic Studies of the People's Liberation Army National Defense University, Beijing, China, among other places. During his military service, he served as the Chief of Operational Branch J-3 in KFOR Headquarters in Kosovo, and also as the Chief of Operational Planning Branch J-5 of the Polish Armed Forces Operational Command in Warsaw. While working for various Polish military educational institutions, he was the Chief of Combat Service Support Chair, at the Mechanized Forces Military Academy in Wrocław, and also served as the Head of the Military Studies Branch, at the National Defense University, Warsaw. Since his retirement, he has been involved in academia, providing education at operational and strategic levels and actively participating in academic conferences and events as a panelist and moderator. He has published books and papers related to current security developments in Asia and Europe, especially concerning the security of the Baltic Sea region.

Krzysztof Feliks Śliwiński – Ph.D., is an Associate Professor at the Department of Government and International Studies of Hong Kong Baptist University (<http://gis.hkbu.edu.hk/staff/sliwinski.html>). He received his Ph.D. from the University of Warsaw (the Institute of International Relations) in 2005. Since 2008, he has been employed by the Hong Kong Baptist University. He holds regular lectures on European Integration, Security Studies, International Relations, and Global Studies. His primary research interests include security studies (non-traditional security issues), the foreign and security policy of the United Kingdom, the foreign and security policy of Poland, and European foreign and security policy. Some of his most recent publications include Śliwiński, K. (2016), Moving Beyond the European Union's Weakness as a Cybersecurity Agent, Contemporary Security Policy, 2014, no. 35, vol. 3, In Smith, M.A. (ed.), European Security, Critical Concepts in Military, Strategic, and Security Studies (468–486), Routledge and Holland, M., Śliwiński, K. and Thomas, N. (2020), Is Affective Effective? Measuring Affective Learning in Simulations, International Studies Perspectives, ekaa005, <https://doi.org/10.1093/isp/ekaa005>.

Piotr Trojański – Ph.D., is an Associate Professor at the Institute of History and Archival Studies of the University of the National Education Commission, Kraków (Poland). He specialises in 20th-century European history, with a particular emphasis on the socio-economic life of Polish Jews and other national minorities. His recent research focuses on the transformations of World War II and Holocaust perceptions in Poland. Trojański serves as an academic advisor at the International Centre for Education about Auschwitz and the Holocaust at the Auschwitz State Museum. He is also the Vice-Chairman of the European Association for Holocaust Studies and a member of the Polish delegation to the International Holocaust Remembrance Alliance.

Andriy Verzun – Ph.D., is an Associate Professor at the Department of Management at the Lviv National Environmental University, Ukraine. Andriy is the author of more than 100 scientific works and is a participant in international projects. His research interests include organisational management systems, specifically, operational management, administrative management, and business management. He is also the Guarantor of Management Scientific Programs for the Master Educational Qualification Level.

Liliia Voinycha – Ph.D., is an Associate Professor at the Department of Management at the Lviv National Environmental University, Ukraine. Liliia is the author of more than 100 scientific works and is a participant in international projects and the ERASMUS+ academic mobility program at the University of Natural Sciences in Lublin (Poland). Liliia is also a researcher in the field of sustainable development of agriculture, disruptive innovations in the education system, modern innovative changes in business management, and public administration.

Jakub Wódka – Ph.D., is a political scientist, Turkologist, and an Associate Professor at the Institute of Political Studies of the Polish Academy of Sciences. He has published extensively on Turkish domestic and foreign policy, among others in the Journal of Balkan and Near Eastern Studies, Southeast European and Black Sea Studies, Futures, Turkish Policy Quarterly, and Insight Turkey. He is also the author of several books, including Polityka zagraniczna średniej potęgi, Turcja jako stadium przypadku, Polityka zagraniczna Turcji, and Uwarunkowania wewnętrzne oraz podmioty decyzyjne. In 2017/2018, he was a visiting scholar at the Weatherhead Center for International Affairs at Harvard University.

Vadym Zheltovskyy – Ph.D., with a habilitation in Political Science (2021), is an Assistant Professor. Since 2022, he has been Head of the Warsaw Division of the Polish Association of European Studies, in addition to being Head of the NCN Miniatura 6 grant (The Influence of Political Leadership on the Revision of the European Union’s Eastern Policy in the Context of the War in Ukraine). His research interests include European integration, the institutional dimension of the EU functioning, political leadership, EU-Russia relations, EU institutions towards the Eastern Partnership Policy, and the role of political communication in EU policy-making.